

Change the World!

Endorse a Nobel Peace Prize for Sustainable Development

There's drastic need for change to civilization's current model of development and how it relentlessly exploits the natural world. Climate change is the most urgent warning that the Earth is sending. We are violating ecological limits in and on the air, oceans and land.

The problems are diverse but the root cause is simple and clear. Our unsustainable global model of development is critically flawed. It denies that there are limits to the Earth's resources and its ability to absorb our wastes. These are ignored as 'externalities' in a system that measures things in monetary terms alone, and optimizes for profit, not well-being.

A shift to Sustainable Development would help solve the problem. Explore the Nobel Peace Prize proposal at NP4SD.org where we offer a quick and easy way to cast a vote for a vital paradigm shift to a more sustainable model of global development. This is not a new Nobel Prize, nor is it meant to honor a religion. It is a Peace Prize shared by three nominees who are related, in the words of Nobel Laureate Archbishop Desmond Tutu, by "their significant contributions to sustainable development."

You can help humanity make the paradigm shift to sustainable development by submitting a nomination or endorsement of the proposal. It's quick, easy, and here's how.

- A little known fact is that all professors of philosophy, history, religion/theology, law and the 'social sciences' are qualified to nominate for the Nobel Peace Prize.
- Click here to nominate for this proposal with a few key strokes. It is automatically forward to the Nobel Committee in Oslo, Norway.
- Anyone can submit an endorsement of the proposal at this link.

So please, 'cast your vote' for this Nobel Peace Prize for Sustainable Development. Then share the effort with your friends, colleagues and associates by conversation, email, social media, forwarding or posting this flyer, or simply with the NP4SD.org website.

No appeals for money will ever be connected with this effort. Your action is more valuable to our future than your money.

Questions and comments to stuart.h.scott@gmail.com.